

ScienceBased Health Announces Expansion of its Clinical Advisory Panel

Addition of Optometric Thought Leaders Will Strengthen the Company's Efforts to Educate About the Role of Nutrition in Eye Care

Houston, TX – August 16, 2016 – ScienceBased Health (SBH), a leading provider of premium evidence-based nutraceuticals for eye health, today announces the addition of I. Ben Gaddie, OD, FAAO, Whitney Hauser, OD, and Scott Schachter, OD to its Clinical Advisory Panel.

For the past 20 years, SBH has been committed to helping eye care practitioners enhance their level of patient care through product innovation, leadership, education and support. The company's products are distributed and recommended by thousands of optometrists and ophthalmologists nationwide.

"We are pleased to collaborate with these distinguished optometric leaders to educate eye care practitioners about the role of nutrition in ocular health," said Alain Magro, President and Chief Executive Officer, ScienceBased Health. "Our nutraceuticals offer support to those with a range of ocular conditions, including dry eye, age-related macular degeneration, glaucoma and diabetes. By partnering with SBH, practitioners can offer patients effective and natural options for care, which enhances overall patient satisfaction."

Ian Benjamin Gaddie, OD, FAAO, joining as Glaucoma Clinical Advisor, is Owner and Director of Gaddie Eye Centers in Louisville, Ky. Dr. Gaddie earned his Doctor of Optometry from the University of Alabama- Birmingham School of Optometry and completed a Residency in Ocular Disease at Northeastern State University College of Optometry at the Triad Eye Medical Clinic and Cataract Institute in Tulsa, Okla.

Dr. Gaddie is currently President of the Optometric Glaucoma Society (OGS), Co-Chairman of the International Vision Expo Meetings and Past President of the Kentucky Optometric Association. He serves on the editorial boards of various industry publications and has published extensively on a wide range of eye care topics. In 2011, Dr. Gaddie was inducted into the Oklahoma Pioneers in Optometry Hall of Fame. He was selected as one of the Most Influential in Optometry by a leading industry publication in 2015 and was awarded the Kentucky Optometric Association Optometrist of The Year Award.

Whitney Hauser, OD, is Assistant Professor at Southern College of Optometry (SCO) and Clinical Development Consultant at TearWell Advanced Dry Eye Treatment Center, both in Memphis, Tenn. Dr. Hauser received her Doctor of Optometry in 2001 from SCO, and she later completed a postgraduate residency in Primary Care Optometry through SCO and the VA Medical Center in Memphis. Prior to joining the SCO faculty, Dr. Hauser served as Clinical Director and Research Coordinator at an ophthalmology referral center in Memphis. Dr. Hauser is an active member of the American Optometric Association, Ocular Nutrition Society, the Association for Research in Vision and Ophthalmology, the World Congress of Optometry, and Women of Vision.
